REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican voters of the several townships of Macon county are requested to elect delegates to a county convention, to be held at the court house, in Decatur, on

SATURDAY, AUGUST 5TH,
at 1:30 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Clerk of the Circuit Court, Sheriff, Prosecuting Attorney and Coronor, to be voted for at the ensuing November election, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The basis of representation will be the vote cast for President in 1872, and each township of the county and voting district in Decatur will be entitled to one delegate for each fifty votes cast for Gen. Grant, and an additional delegate for each fraction of twenty-five votes. Under this basis the several townships and voting districts will be entitled to the following number of delegates:

Decatur—First district, 8; 2d district, 6; 3d district, 4; 4th district, 3.
Milan, 1; Illinoian, 2; Harrisville, 1; Long Creek, 2; Maroa, 4; Blue Mound, 2; Friends Creek, 2; Mt. Zion, 2; Austin, 1; Macon, 4; Pleasant View, 2; Wheatland, 2; Hickory, 2; Oakley, 2; Whittle, 3; Niastic, 2. Total, 53.

By order of the County Central Committee
R. F. LYTTLE,
Chairman.

Decatur, Ill., July 18th, 1876.

NO REPUBLICAN NEED APPLY.

The Democratic State Convention yesterday nominated the following ticket: For Governor, Lewis Steward, of Kendall; for Lieut. Governor, Archibald A. Glenn, of Brown; for Secretary of State, Stephen Y. Thornton, of Fulton; for Auditor, John Hise, of Cook; for Treasurer, George Gundlach, of Clinton; for Attorney General, Edward Lynch, of Logan.

It will be observed that the convention paid but little attention to the demands of the Independents, nominating only two of the candidates whose names are on the Decatur ticket—Steward and Hise.

This action is not only a direct slap at the Independents, whose strength and importance are thus ridiculed, but it is an intimation to everybody that there is only one way to enter the Democratic party, and that is by the open front door. All other means of ingress are discontenanced, and the Democratic leaders say to the Independents: "We can't trust those of your candidates who have heretofore acted with the Republicans. Pickrell, Hise, and Cuy may be good enough for Independents, but if they want place on our ticket, they must show their heads to Republicanism by joining the Democracy direct. Democracy by brevet will not do; they must be full-fledged, rock-rooted and hill-buttressed." This is the language of the Democratic state convention.

Steward and Hise are selected from among the candidates on the Decatur ticket, and given places on the Democratic ticket. For what purpose? Manifestly because it is expected that the Independents will vote for them, and they will therefore receive the vote of the united opposition. The interesting question which now presents itself to Independents of Republican antecedents is, whether these two candidates have not absolved them from their allegiance, as far as they (Steward and Hise) are concerned, by accepting nominations from a convention which refused to similarly recognize their colleagues on the Independent ticket. This question will be very seriously considered in the next few weeks, and it is not unlikely that the Democrats will find that they have over-reached themselves, as usual.

BUSINESS HOURS IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

(The Galaxy.)

HAYES' CARE FOR THE SOLDIER.

Mr. Emory Highay, who was a member of Company B, Twenty-third Ohio Volunteers, has written a brief letter to the Ashtabula Sentinel in which he says: "When I enlisted I was quite young and small to carry a musket, and found it difficult at times, when on long marches, to keep up with the army. When on our second or third day's march from Weston to Cheat Mountain, I became so fatigued in the middle of the afternoon that it was impossible to keep up, and began to stagger in the rear. As soon as discovered by our gallant Major Hayes he dismounted his horse and requested me to ride. I reluctantly objected to do so, saying that I thought I could march awhile longer, but he would not take no for an answer. After placing me comfortably on his saddle and putting his pantaloons in the tops of his boots, he shouldered the gun and filled my place in the ranks, plodding through the sticky clay, chatting with the boys and cheering them on until nearly dark, when he came for his horse to ride to look for a camping ground. We camped that night at what was known as the 'Tompkins Farm,' where we found plenty of wood and fires still burning, left by the rebels in the morning of the same day. During the whole evening he was to be found walking through the camp, and looking after the comfort of his men."

The fact can no longer be concealed that there is a serious and bitter controversy going on in the Democratic party relative to the currency question.

The demand of the St. Louis platform for the repeal of the Resumption act;

the nomination of a pronounced hard-

money man for president and an equally pronounced soft-money man for vice president, the violent efforts of the two parties to secure control of the party machinery, and the deadlock in the currency committee of the house, are some of the indications of the rupture.

Tilden and Hendricks are at swords'

points on the question and the whole party is rent and torn by it. In a political shape it is in a life and death

struggle between these two Democratic politicians. If the soft-money policy prevails and the resumption act is repealed, Tilden is ruined in New York,

and if the contrary policy prevails,

Hendricks is ruined in Indiana. Tilden is a old man of sixty, when the clerk might be expected. "Sir," he answered, "they rarely come before 11 o'clock, and often later." Sure enough, it was quarter past eleven before they began to drop in. To change their costs, arrange their papers, and interchange matutinal visitants, occupied

the time until noon. Then the work

TILDEN AS A PARDONER.

A little while ago that incorruptible magistrate, Recorder Hackett of New York, remarked in the hearing of a number of persons that he was growing sick of sentencing criminals for long terms only to have them pardoned in a few months and turned loose upon society again. Commenting on these remarks of Judge Hackett, the Hudson River (New York) Chronicle tells how one prisoner obtained a pardon from Sammy Tilden, the friend of Tweed, and the great reform candidate for the presidency. The prisoner in question was a man known as Henry Vincent Clinton, and by a dozen other aliases. He was a burglar, sneak thief, confidence man, etc., and at various times between 1863 and 1875 had been an inmate of several jails.

In 1875, Clinton, under the alias of Bob Clark, came to the final gripe from which Tilden has released, having been arrested, convicted and sentenced on the 5th of February, 1875, for stealing.

Recorder Hackett, before whom he was convicted, gave him three years and a half in Sing Sing. On arriving at the prison, "Bob Clark" said to an old chum who recognized him, "Don't you know me—don't give me away, for I'm going to lay for a pardon and get it." In explanation, he added, "Tilden has got president on the brain. He wants southern and western influence, and I'm going to make him think he has got it. I'll get up some letters that will tickle him."

Clinton was right—he knew his man. Governor Tilden could not refuse so small a favor as the pardon of Bob Clark to Governor Hendricks of Indiana, Gov. Walker of Virginia, and ex-confederate General Fitzhugh Lee, and when these gentlemen took the trouble to send him autograph letters, in which the application for the pardon of Mr. Clark was an incident, while the burden related to the prospects and desires of the Decatur Convention, which a few months ago declared for Cooper and greenbacks. Mr. Glenn, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor, is at present the presiding officer of the State Senate. He was elected two years ago as an Independent. The ticket and the proceedings are a mass of absurdities from beginning to end, and they will be laughed at from one end of the State to the other.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Of course the letters purporting to come from Walker, Hendricks, etc., were clear forgeries, but the governor, with the president maggot in his brain did not stop to think of that. He did not ask the advice of the district attorney who tried, or the judge who sentenced Clark. The letters did "tickle" him, and the fact that the signers of these letters could help him in his race for the presidency, was a sufficient reason why he should grant their request. Vincent, alias Clark, is now at large, as is Sammy Tilden, who grandiloquently declares that "the people want reform and that in selecting an instrument to carry the reform into action, they have taken me."

WHEN an honest man has anything to say or to write, with no concealment to make, it does not take him long to do it, as see the acceptance letter of Governor Hayes; but when a trickster is called upon to say or to write anything, it takes him long to arrange this to all our heretical friends.

John Hise of Cook, and J. K. McLeabe of Gallatin were named for auditor. After the first ballot Hise was nominated by acclamation.

TROOPS SENT TO HAMBURG

SPRINGFIELD, July 27.—The democratic convention was called to order, this morning and effected a temporary organization, as follows:

Temporary president, James C. Allen of Crawford, temporary secretaries, D. T. Head of Hancock, J. J. Crowley of Cook, and R. W. Austin; recording secretary J. W. Johnson of Pike. Judge Allen, on taking the chair, briefly addressed the convention, after which the following committee were appointed to name presidential electors and members of the state central committee, when a recess was taken till one p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Hon. J. C. Allen was made permanent president, and J. J. Crowley secretary, with E. A. Shively, R. W. Ross, T. W. Kidd, and J. W. Johnson assistant secretaries, and nineteen vice presidents one from each district.

For electors at large, W. J. Allen of Jackson, W. F. Coolbaugh of Cook.

For central committee at large, C. H. McCorkle of Cook, W. R. Murphy of Perry, B. W. Burlow of Morgan, A. P. Goddard of Stephenson, C. D. Haile of Bond and J. B. Mann of Vermillion.

Miles Kehoe of Cook, offered a resolution, reciting that the republican policy of allowing convivial labor to compete with that of the honest working men of the state, is detrimental to every interest of society, and should be denounced. Referred to committee on resolutions.

Hon. L. S. Marshall made the following report from the committee on RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, By the democracy of Illinois in convention assembled, that the members of the national democratic convention at St. Louis, deserve the plaudits of the whole country for the manner in which they discharged the duties devolved upon them, and we shall the result of their action in the platform and principles adopted, and presentation of the names of those eminent statesmen, S. J. Tilden, of New York, and Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana, for the suffrages of the people, as the opening up, a new and better era in American politics, and giving to the people an opportunity to be elected to these gentlemen to the White House, in the conspiracy. This letter is thus signed by the members of the convention.

Resolved, That the managers of the party are to make it their object to make it their
